

About Michael Seh

Enigmatic and emotional, unexplained and ungraceful, Michael Seh's preference of art has been called "I guess so" and "beautiful". Some people find his work incomplete. He much frequently does too, and loves his list of incomplete work. Seh has gained recognition for being random, limber, tasteful, and couch confident. He has not worked since 2016, because he believes he makes a life, instead of he makes a living.

Seh (b. 2000, Glendale, CA, USA) is based in Los Angeles. Due to his love of Glendale, he's been traveling around the Glendale Galleria. He became particularly attentive to running vests, and sunscreen.
